Our quality standards

Because we pride ourselves on the good quality and condition of books at our sales, we can only accept good-condition items.

Except for rare, valuable, children’s classics or antiquarian books, we are looking for donations of books which are in good condition. If they are yellowed, mouldy, torn, dirty, written in, defaced, have pagers stuck together, or are in any other way significantly damaged, please recycle them rather than go to the trouble of bringing them in to us.

If possible, if you have more than a few books, please place them in a cardboard box or shopping bag which is able to be easily carried.
